POPE FRANCIS' INTENTIONS FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER:

For the Synod. We pray for the Church, that she may adopt listening and dialogue as a lifestyle at every level, and allow herself to be guided by the Holy Spirit towards the peripheries of the world.

INTERCESSION FOR VOCATIONS:

We pray for the graces of clarity and active response in the discernment of our Heavenly Father's will for all those considering a vocation to the priesthood or consecrated life.

Prayer for Radical Solidarity

O Blessed Mother, at the angel's word you went in haste to the aid of your cousin Elizabeth. Although pregnant yourself, you placed her needs before your own. In that first Eucharistic procession, you carried Jesus to Elizabeth in her time of need. Obtain for us the grace to bring Christ to any expectant mother who is alone and afraid. Along the Way

Once again, as we begin a new academic year, I am reminded of the importance of handing on the Catholic Faith to adults, parents, and our children, for the salvation of souls. It is clear that I cannot do this alone, which is why I am grateful for our catechists and leaders of faith formation.

The excellent evening series for adults under the title of What We Believe: The Beauty of the Catholic Faith, began on September 19. This has been enthusiastically received by over 45 adults. The leadership of Michele and Christopher Berardi is very much appreciated by me and the participants.

This past Sunday marked the beginning of our faith formation for children and parents entitled Light of Faith and Family. It too began with much enthusiasm, largely due to the leadership of Leanna Pipala, our Director of Religious Education, the Oblate Sisters, and our well-trained catechists.

More news about these programs for the salvation of souls young and mature will be shared at a future time as we go along THE WAY. . .

Monsignor Michael J. Cariglio, Jr., Pastor and Rector

American Eucharistic Witnesses: Saint of America, Saint of the Eucharist - St. Elizabeth Ann Seton (Part 2)

by Tom Hoopes

Elizabeth was deeply saddened by the lack of the Eucharistic faith she saw in others. In Italy, she had witnessed a Catholic Mass with other non-Catholic visitors. “At the very moment the priest was doing the most sacred action they call the elevation,” she said, “this wild young man [who was not Catholic] said loud in my ear ‘This is what they call their real presence.’ My very heart trembled with shame and sorrow for his unfeeling interruption of their sacred adoration, for all around was dead silence and many were prostrated.” She added, “Involuntarily I bent from him to the pavement and thought secretly on the words of St. Paul with starting tears: ‘they discern not the Lord’s body.’”

She made her feelings about the Eucharist clear to her Protestant friends, and they challenged her. One asked, “How can you believe that there are as many gods as there are millions of altars and tens of millions of blessed hosts all over the world?” one asked. . . Her answer wasn’t agitated, but calm and even joyful. “I can but smile at his earnest [albeit erroneous] words, for the whole of my cogitations about it are reduced to one thought,” she wrote. “It is God who does it, the same God who fed so many thousands with the little barley loaves and little fishes, multiplying them of course in the hands which distributed them.” In fact, she said, “Nothing is so very hard to believe in it [the Eucharist], since it is he [God] who does it.” . . .

Elizabeth’s joy when she was finally able to receive Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament is an important lesson for Catholics today. When she received her first Holy Communion in 1805, she wrote to the Filicchi family about it, . . . “At last, Amabilia, at last! GOD IS MINE and I AM HIS,” she wrote. “I HAVE RECEIVED HIM.” She said she had so longed for “the moment he would enter the poor little dwelling so all his own. And when he did—the first thought, I remember, was ‘Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered!’ for it seemed to me my King had come to take his throne, and instead of the humble tender welcome I had expected to give him, it was but a triumph of joy and gladness that the deliverer was come.”

The Eucharist became Elizabeth’s resting place. As a religious superior, she arranged her desk such that she could see the chapel’s sanctuary lamp through her doorway; as she lay dying an early death of tuberculosis at age 46, she instructed her sisters to position her bed so she could see the tabernacle. “Happen now what will, I rest with God, in the tabernacle and Communion—so now I can pass the Valley of Death itself,” she wrote in one of her last letters.

“She is a glorious tribute, by God’s grace, to the health, zeal and spirituality of Catholicism [in the United States],” said Cardinal Spellman. . . . St. Elizabeth Ann Seton shows us that our faith comes to us by the Eucharist, in the Eucharist, and for the Eucharist.

This November, Ohioans will vote on a proposed change to the Ohio Constitution that would enshrine abortion into law. Our Catholic faith tells us that God places no condition on the value of human life from conception until natural death. Therefore, the Catholic Church cannot be silent when vulnerable women and preborn children are threatened by an amendment that puts women at risk by endangering medical and safety standards, allows painful, late-term abortions by not setting any clear limits on abortion, and threatens parental rights by challenging notification requirements when minors seek abortions or other reproductive interventions.

A TRIBUTE TO SENIORS

My personal "Faith Heroine" is not just one person but many. I became a member of the St. Monica Guild in 1999. As I reflect back over the last 24 years of being a member of St. Monica Guild it has been one of the most impactful experiences for me. It is amazing how so many of our seniors do a great job working for the Church. It is unbelievable how well each one of them work so well together. You never really hear any complaints about what job they are assigned to do. I might hear a few comments about their aches and pains, but they continue doing the job no matter what. In my opinion, these seniors are my "Faith Heroines" because I see in them images of Christ through the compassion, kindness, love and generosity that they show. Truly to me, these are the ones that live the Gospel day-to-day in the real world.

I salute them with great applause.

Marie C. Ronyak

"Do nothing out of selfishness; rather, humbly regard others as more important than yourselves..." Philippians 2:3

Pride and ego are hard things to control. We see how others act or dress and think we are superior to them. We idolize our own self-image. But, if we truly believe everything is a gift from God, we recognize all the people that God has put in our lives as gifts! We are grateful for how they enrich our lives. Pray every day for the people in your life: your family, your friends and those who make you angry.
