Called to be Peacemakers

Anyone who visits a military cemetery understands that those who are buried in these rows are heroes. They fought for their way of life, were committed to their ideals, dedicated to duty, treading through evening mud and morning mist under a heavy backpack, moving courageously toward the enemy. We owe our veterans for all they gave, in too many cases their very lives, all that they had to give, in obedience to their country's call, much gratitude. As we remember our veterans on November 11, we reflect on the word of peace in which in many cases they won for us.

Peace must be understood in positive terms. Peace is not just the absence of war. Peace must be constructed patiently with unshakable faith. Mother Teresa said that peace starts with a smile.

As followers of Christ, peacemaking is not an optional commitment. We are called to be peacemakers, not by some movement, but by our Lord Jesus. The virtue of patriotism means that our love and loyalty for our country is examined carefully, and regularly, whether we are living up to our full potential as an agent of peace and justice for all people.

At Mass, we offer one another a sign of peace. Let us make that an authentic sign of our doing all in our power to bring peace to our families, and to the world.

Msgr. Zuna

Available today on Formed.org:

Beatitude Series | Blessed are the Peacemakers

Just two months before he was sent to the Korean War, Fr. Kapaun gave a series of reflections on the Beatitudes, which are incorporated in series. This session focuses on the story of Robert Reichenberger, who as a police officer seeks to be a peacemaker by profession. When his world was turned upside down by a crippling disease, he was invited to a new level of peace with himself and God.

Thirty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Wisdom 6:12–16 • 1 Thessalonians 4:13–18 • Matthew 25:1–13

Seeking Wisdom That Remains

In this Sunday's readings, we are invited to seek something the world often overlooks: wisdom. It's not the kind of cleverness that impresses or the quick thinking that solves a problem, but instead it's the divine wisdom that shapes a life according to God's heart. Scripture tells us that "resplendent and unfading is wisdom, and she is readily perceived by those who love her" (Wisdom 6:12). Those who seek her sincerely will find her waiting at their gates.

Wisdom begins with knowledge, but it does not end there. Knowledge fills the mind; wisdom forms the soul. Wisdom is the perfection of prudence. To live wisely means to take what we know of God's truth and apply it to our daily choices—our relationships, work, priorities, and desires. It means choosing what leads to heaven rather than what merely satisfies for a moment. And when we live this way consistently, we gain understanding: the deep peace of knowing that our lives are aligned with God's will.

The Parable Of The Wise And Foolish Virgins by Pieter Lisaert

The parable of the wise and foolish virgins reminds us that wisdom is not simply knowing about God but being ready to meet him. Wisdom keeps the lamp of faith burning, even when the wait feels long. It teaches us vigilance, patience, and trust in God's timing.

True wisdom cannot be rushed or borrowed at the last moment. It is cultivated through prayer, Scripture, and a heart that listens for the quiet guidance of the Holy Spirit. To be wise is to live prepared for the Lord's coming, for life's trials, and for love's demands.

Living the Gospel

This week, make time to pray the Litany to the Holy Spirit or the Prayer for Wisdom (see James 1:5–6). Ask God to form your mind and heart after his own, that your decisions may spring not from impulse but from intimacy with him. As you pray, picture yourself trimming your lamp and replenishing its oil through prayer, ready for whenever the Bridegroom comes.

Celebrating All Saints Day

Sunday, November 1

Six wonderful children from our parish dressed as saints and shared their stories with our parish family during Mass in celebration of All Saints' Day!

A heartfelt thank you to these wonderful children, their parents, and our Coordinator of Religious Education, Leanna, for their time, dedication, and efforts in making today's presentation so special!

May the lives of these saints continue to inspire us all to grow in faith, love, and holiness.

Welcome to our New Members!

On All Saints Day, six adults completed their OCIA journey. Four made Professions of Faith and were received into the Catholic Church. Two others, already baptized Catholic, joined them in receiving their Sacraments of Confirmation and First Communion.

These men and women met weekly for twenty weeks throughout the summer to study the teachings of the Catholic Church.

If you know someone who is interested in becoming Catholic or in receiving their Sacraments please contact the Parish Office at 330-743-4144.

Congratulations to our Newly Baptized!

Congratulations to Everett Welsh, son of Alexander and Mariah Welsh, who was baptized on Sunday, October 11 at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Basilica.

Relics Display

Last Sunday, we continued one of the great customs of the Roman Church by adorning the altar at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Basilica with a number of relics and reliquaries.

A relic is a sacred material item that exists after a Saint or martyr has died, which provides a real and tangible connection to that Saint or martyr. Relics are venerated because they connect us with men and women who lived heroic lives of virtue or who died for the faith.

Young Adults Gathering

After Mass on All Saints Day, the young adults of our parish gathered in the John Paul II Center to watch the Steelers defeat the Browns.

Special thanks to Nick Mattiussi and Deacon Mark Izzo for organizing this event.

The young adult group is open to members of the parish and others who are 18 to 30 years old. Call or text Alex Micco at 330-397-8979 to be added to the text group.

Christmas Flowers

Intentions for Christmas Flower donations must be received by Sunday, November 28 if they are to be included in the Christmas bulletin.

One way our parish is preparing for Christmas this year is with a special program from Ascension called Joy to the World: An Advent Journey with the Angelus. This daily prayer journal is built around the Angelus, one of the Church's oldest and most beloved prayers on the Incarnation.

Each week centers on a different line from the Angelus, drawing us into a pivotal moment in salvation history through a visio divina meditation on sacred art, daily Scripture reflections, and journaling prompts that lead us closer to Jesus through Mary and help us dive deeper into prayer.

If you would like to reserve a copy of Joy to the World or are interested in participating in a small group study during Advent, please call the Parish Office at 330-743-4144.
